

March 16, 2018- The Fueling American Jobs Coalition issued the following statement:

“The Coalition is pleased that the Administration is continuing to have discussions on a win-win solution that would expand the market for biofuels and contain the high-RINs costs that are threatening blue-collar refining jobs.”

“One thing is for certain: any deal must include real RINs cost containment if the Administration is to hold faith with thousands of refinery workers in Pennsylvania and across the nation.”
